

A flood of leaves envelops the Wartburg campus today after Mother Nature turned down the damper and shedded the trees of their cloaks. Balmy weather marked the earlier part of the week and gave way to a variety of campus activity in preparation for the long, cold winter. Lee Eichle, Lodi, Calif., and

Verle Meister, Kingsley, mix it up in the sea of leaves, while dormkeeper Fred Mueller mounts propective storm windows on North Hall in anticipation of early snow.

1st Campus Church Council Elected For 1959-60 Year

Election of church council members last week marked a major step toward the realization of a long-awaited student congregation for Wartburg.

Prospective congregation members selected seniors Ron Beckman, Norm Remmers, Marti Stuhmer and Jim Thomas; juniors Fred Mai and Marian Stubenvoll; and sophomores Gene Janssen, Bob Niemann and Jochem Strehmel for seats on the council.

Congregational officers were selected from council ranks at the group's first meeting. Ron Beckman was picked to serve as president, Jim Thomas as vice president, Marti Stuhmer as secretary and Fred Mai as treasurer. College Chaplain Herman Diers will be the congregation pastor.

Precinct elections are scheduled soon to choose members for the congregation's five standing committees: Worship, Christian Growth, Christian Life, Evangelism and Finance. Church council members will serve as chairmen of these committees.

Plans call for a service of installation and consecration for council and committee members in the near future, according to Pastor Diers. The service will take place during a regular Sunday morning divine worship, which will feature a special speaker.

Affairs Confab Success - VP

"The Student Current Affairs Conference was a success in the opinion of those attending," commented Roger Lageschulte, Student Body vice president.

A total of 50 students and faculty members participated in last Saturday's conference, which started with a Bible study conducted by the Rev. Edwin Schick of the Wartburg Christianity Department.

The Rev. G. W. McMichael, of the Methodist Church in Waverly, was the keynote speaker, addressing the group on "Extra Dividends of Life."

Discussion groups, led by student leaders with faculty resource members, were held in the areas of extracurricular activities, religious life and academic life.

The day concluded with recreation and inspirational singing.

"We'd like to try another one in spring, closer to Waverly and on a more suitable day," said Rog.

Dean Will Speak

Dean of Faculty John O. Chellevoid will present a paper at the first meeting of the Conference of Academic Deans of The American Lutheran Church Colleges Nov. 6 and 7.

Title of the paper is "Problems of Specialized Curricula and Proliferation of Courses."

Stop Now!

Wartburg students and faculty members may reserve tickets next Thursday and Friday for the Philharmonia Hungarica, Artist Series Concert, according to Meredith Stuhmer, of the Series Committee.

These tickets may be acquired by presenting student activity tickets in the Treasurer's Office from 8-12 in the morning and 1-4 in the afternoon.

Loan Action Gets Rolling

Final papers were being signed this week by applicants for the government loan program, according to H. C. Engelbrecht, assistant to the president.

Nineteen loans totaling $9,163 were approved within the last week, loans ranging from $150 to $750. Recipients included nine freshmen, five sophomores, two juniors and three seniors.

"We're expecting to receive another amount of approximately $4,000 from the government in January 1960. Applications will be taken right along," stated Engelbrecht.

Under the program, students will begin repayments one year after graduation and have 10 years in which to complete them. Students who go into the field of teaching may deduct 10 per cent every year for five years of service.

Convo Lists PMB'd Pastor, Reformation

The ministerial view of Parish Mission Builders and a Reformation service are on next week's convocation docket.

Journeying from Palatine, Ill., for Tuesday's convo is the Rev. Creatis Shira. He will speak about the effects Parish Mission Builders exert on the congregation and community in which they work. Recently PMB'ers worked in his congregation.

Prof. William A. Poovey of Wartburg Seminary will conduct the Reformation service Thursday.

8 To Indiana Day School

Eight Wartburg students are attending a convention of the Christian Day School Association in Michigan City, Ind., this weekend.

These students include Edna Busch, senior; Marlyce Pohlman, senior; June Marolf, junior; Alma Bremer, senior; Darlene Arns, senior; Carol Boyken, junior; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Danneman, second semester junior and special student.

They will be participating in discussions and attending lectures along with other teachers in Christian day schools throughout the United States.

High lights of this convention will be featured on the program at the meeting of The Four R's next Monday evening. The Christian Day School teachers' organization on campus will meet at 7:30 in Wartburg Hall Lounge.

Solons Lack Money

Can anyone remember the balance on hand in the Student Senate fund according to the 1939-40 treasurer's report? To refresh your memory, it was 20 cents.

Faculty Meeting Slates Discussion

A panel discussion titled "What Is Liberal Education?" will be featured at the Wartburg faculty meeting Monday evening in Centennial Hall Lounge.

Leading the discussion will be Dr. E. T. Sandberg, English Department. Panel members include Dr. Herbert Max, Education Department; Dr. Katherine Love, German Department; the Rev. Edwin Schick, Christianity Department; and Dr. Clifford Hanson, Philosophy Department.

Faculty Challenged Too

Convo came Tuesday. Like proverbial March weather, it entered like a lamb and concluded lion-like.

Mildly, Dr. Leo Petri's presentation inaugurated a faculty-student panel, which proceeded to deal with the general topic of (cliche) "The Wartburg Family."

Prof. August Baetke stirred things a bit with a series of comparisons, and sister scribe Linda Mugridge proceeded to knock the foundation out from under (insert another cliche) "Wartburg's Ivory Tower."

Senator Jim Eissinger generated a furor at the close of the hour by making a pointed plea for individual, independent thinking among faculty, students and administration alike.

After the panel was over Tuesday, there were few classes that didn't get around to discussing the convo presentation before the hour was over.

Professors took the opportunity to pick out a few pertinent gripes they had and air them. But one professor during discussions addressed his class as "robots."

Now we ask the question, "Are students the only robots?" Day in and day out we hear professors not agreeing with some policies or rulings of the college.

But what is done about it? The complaints usually go no farther than the classroom or personal conferences between faculty members in the corridors. At least so we are told by other faculty members. It is the time for peers as well as students to think for themselves. The administration has opened the doors to suggestions from faculty members.

This is not a challenge for an all-out faculty rebellion, but rather a plea for faculty members to take action on affairs on which they have earnest opinions even though the issue may not concern them directly.

Otherwise, the above-mentioned climate in Tuesday's convo will be all wind.

Hi!

Tradition Can Be Changed

Hi!

If all the words spoken on the Wartburg campus during one day were caught in the treetops, the flock of "Hi's" would probably be noisier than any other single word.

After all, "Hi" is listed in the Student Handbook as a campus tradition. Visitors bask in its warmth. If they leave campus without commenting on Wartburg friendliness, they are almost committing a sacrilege.

Even tradition, however, is subject to mutation, and Wartburg has more than 57 varieties of "hi-ers." Some unexpectedly greet you just as you are passing them, so that you involuntarily sail right by in rude silence. Some hazily say "Hi" to every tree they meet. Some growl out "Hi" as if picking a fight. Others never say "Hi" unless they meet the college president.

The genuinely enthusiastic "Hi" is a rarity. More and more people no longer bother with it. They have a point. It's hard to warmly greet the student you didn't know existed until he passed you by the fishpond.

Perhaps something should be done about the "Hi" tradition. Maybe Wartburg should follow the transition from the blue jeans to dress pants and say "hello" instead. Or maybe the word should be abolished altogether. Oppie cards could be given to those who unwittingly uttered the greeting.

Tradition can be changed, you know.

But no matter how much the word "Hi" might be abolished by decree, some would stay with the old tradition. It's been bred into them. They'd say "Hi" to themselves.

CAMPUS VOICES

They Say, 'Shhh! We Can't Offend Our Constituency'

To the Editor:

Since the Wartburg Trumpet proclaims to be the voice of the Student Body, we as students wish to use this opportunity to express our views on a current campus situation.

It has been unavoidable to notice a certain atmosphere of "keep it quiet, smooth it over, and don't let our constituency know" prevailing on our campus at present.

This situation has undoubtedly been prevalent in previous years, but through such issues as dancing, tobacco advertising in the Trumpet and "Kennedy for commencement speaker," it has been brought to the foreground.

It would seem that the problem lies in this: the administration is so concerned with

EHRMAN SPEAKS AGAIN

Too Much Religion — Is It Possible?

By Ray Ehrman

One is not fair if he thinks that the solution to a problem that we have lies solely with the administrators.

We may not be able always to agree that it takes two people to make a problem. But the religious problem on campus certainly involves at least two groups of persons, the administrators and the recipients. Therefore, more should be said.

But first here is more information from other colleges: Augustana (Sioux Falls, S. D.) has much the same as Wartburg in the religious field; only voluntary chapel and convocations are combined four times a week.

Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Kan., considers the devotional side of religion just as important as the intellectual. That college requires attendance at chapel every day.

Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, N.C., also has compulsory attendance at chapel twice a week (freshmen and seniors on Tuesday, and sophomores and juniors on Thursday) and at convocations usually at the beginning of the semester.

Survey Shows Opinion

A survey would show that some say there is too much religion at Wartburg, some would think not enough and others would think the present system is good, only that quality should be the aim. Many of these opinions express individual experiences with religion.

Mid Knight March

By Bob Solete

The Christian attitude is really pervading the campus these days. Alpha House has taken the vows of the brotherhood. The whole social attitude there is being revamped. Good luck, men, but if someone else besides Tom has to spend another night out in a car, I don't think you'll make it.

WHIP WESLEYAN
No, the signs on campus weren't supposed to read "All-Square School Dance" but "All-School Square Dance." It didn't matter, though, because a lot of people felt at home either way they looked at it.

WHIP WESLEYAN
Has anyone seen Eissinger since convo last Tuesday?

WHIP WESLEYAN
Don't be too alarmed if the greater portion of males on campus seems to desert sometime in the next few days. It's simply the fact that a certain establishment, 401 W. Bremer, is giving away a much sought-after commodity.

WHIP WESLEYAN
Here's one for the fuzzy frosh who won the "Best Overall Beard" contest at Homecoming—what's the matter? Is your razor broken, or is your name Samson? Where's Delilah?

WHIP WESLEYAN
Don't forget the "Mittens for Muenster" drive! I'd give my black cloak, but if I did, I wouldn't have a thing to wear. Anyone got a barrel?

WHIP WESLEYAN
Overheard from a sophomore prior to convo, while the dance class was on the gym floor: "Is that a record or is it Bundgaard singing?"

the constituency and its opinions that it strives to suppress the activities and the related publication of these activities to the extent that it stifles student initiative.

We would question whether there are enough logical, open-minded opinions expressed by the constituency to warrant so much consideration.

With what is the administration most concerned: Christian concern over offending others, or possible loss of monetary support?

In addition, when will the faculty members arrive at the point where they will say in faculty meetings those things which they admit or declare in classroom situations?

We feel that Wartburg College is, or would be, more liberal than it cares to have its constituents know, and that its administration is afraid of admitting this fact in fear of the cry of "Liberalism!"

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Gridders Attempt To Get Back On Win Trail Today

Face Ia. Wesleyan At Mt. Pleasant

By Charles Jepsen
Offensive changes are in store for the Knights when they take the field today against Iowa Wesleyan at Mount Pleasant.

Coach Norm Johansen has promised several new faces in the starting lineup today. Injuries may bring about a portion of the re-vamping. On the doubtful list are starting right half-back Dave Jensen and first-string right end Chuck Nichol.

Nichol's Not There
Nichol, who also missed the game with Illinois Normal, has a leg injury, and Jensen is bothered by an ankle injury sustained against Normal.

Juniors Don Lehmann and John Klautt are expected to man Nichol's position for the second straight week.

Last Saturday the Knights had their 12-game winning streak snapped 30-6 by Illinois Normal in a non-conference tilt.

Ott Breaks Record
One consolation salvaged from the Illinois excursion was quarterback Marv Ott's new career school record for total offense. Ott, only a junior, gained 131 yards to give him a total at present of 2,098. Art Margheim, who played here during 1953-56, held the old mark of 2,002 yards.

This afternoon Wartburg returns to loop action against a team which, despite a 3-2 mark, is rated as a challenger in the conference race. The Knights are currently leading the Iowa Conference with a 4-0 record.

IW Has Homecoming
Added incentive for Iowa Wesleyan will come from the large crowd that is expected for the Tigers' Homecoming festivities.

Wesleyan, reportedly outweighing the Knights in the line, runs its offense from the Wing-T formation. The Tigers will be led by halfback Don Lewis, their leading ground gainer last year.

Illinois Normal Snaps Win Skein

A 12-game winning streak was ended last Saturday when the Knights went down in defeat to a confident Illinois State Normal University squad by a 30-6 score.

The Redbirds wasted no time as they grabbed a Wartburg fumble on the third play of the game and promptly marched to a touchdown with 11 minutes still remaining in the first period. Wartburg had five fumbles during the game.

The Knights' continued ability to fumble and the powerful combination of ISNU quarterback Wayne Meece and halfback Dean Puyear ran the score to 13-6 at half-time.

The Knights outplayed ISNU in the second period when they scored their only touchdown, but the Redbirds took control in the second half and never relinquished it.

Two touchdowns and a field goal in the third period ended all hope for the Knights. Wartburg, rated fifth in the standings of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics of small colleges, dropped to 19th as a result of the defeat.

Lineman Of The Week

The Trumpet's fifth Lineman of the Week goes to Don Sowers, sophomore from Sumner. Don was given three of the five possible votes of the panel in recognition of his fine job at defense in the Illinois State Normal game last Saturday.

Bob Niemann, also a sophomore, received the other two votes. In that game the Knights had their winning streak stopped at 12, as they were defeated 30-6.

EDSEL'S UP FRONT

Jerry Ford Keeps Chugging Along

By Charles Jepsen
The words "It's nice to have him around" are often said of people who, though seldom attaining a great amount of glory, are always there when they are needed.

One such person on the Wartburg football team is 165-pound senior end Jerry Ford.

Ford is a graduate of Iowa Falls High School, where he lettered three years as a halfback.

Jerry Is G-I
After completing high school, Jerry entered the service. Upon his return he decided to work for a year to earn some money so that he could attend college.

"It didn't work out as I had planned," comments Jerry. "During that year I spent more money than I made. So I thought I'd better come to college before I got too far in debt."

End Justifies Letters
Ford was converted to an end at Wartburg and has thus far earned two letters for his play at that position. He was one of the six captains for the Knights' Homecoming encounter with Buena Vista.

Jerry is appreciative of the things football has done for him.

"I like the game and enjoy playing it," he remarked, "and I've met many new friends on campus through football."

Letters Mean W-Club
As a letterman, Ford naturally belongs to

1960 Ford - Johansen Style

the W-Club. He also is an active member of the Student Education Association. This year Jerry is serving as president of the World Affairs Forum, which he describes as "an intellectual group that discusses controversial issues of the day."

Jerry is taking a double major, history and phy. ed. He is presently student teaching at Waverly High School.

His future plans include graduation from student teaching to full-time high school instruction of history and phy. ed. somewhere in the state of Iowa.

Philharmonia Hungarica Arriving Here On Wave Of Critics' Commendations

By Phil Truckenbrod
In Amsterdam "the ovation would not come to an end"; at Zurich — "storms of applause"; in Vienna "the audience wept."

Europe was greeting a new musical organization which her critics described as "first class"; "first rate"; destined to become one of "the world's most reputed orchestras."

The Philharmonia Hungarica, now on its first American tour, will appear exclusively at "recognized musical centers of the United States." The schedule includes a Nov. 5 Artist Series stop at Wartburg College.

Music Born Of Tragedy

This organization is living proof that good can come out of even the bloodiest of tragedies.

After the Hungarian revolt in 1956, many of Hungary's finest musicians passed their time in Austrian refugee camps playing the instruments they had managed to bring with them.

Zalton Rozsynai, himself a Hungarian refugee musician, decided to form an orchestra of the homeless men, among whom were some of the outstanding musical talent from all Hungary.

Austrians Aid

Austrian people helped the young group by donating instruments, stands and dark suits for concert wear. Following a successful premier concert at Vienna, the Philharmonia Hungarica proceeded throughout Europe, creating Everyone who did his celebrating at the Square Dance last night owes his thanks to the Business Students Association. Because of the efforts of this organization, we all had a rousing, if somewhat uncoordinated, evening. (Who says Folk and Square Dancing is not an academically respectable course?)

If you're interested in a week in Greece, head for Clinton Hall Lounge this Sunday evening. Dallas Johnson will be speaking on this very topic to the Lutheran Student Association. Time: 7.

Alpha Phi Gamma will be holding its initiation supper and meeting this Sunday. The event will take place at Mrs. Garland's home.

Last Friday, (that's yesterday) eight Wartburg debaters made their big plug at the Grinnell Discussion Conference at Grinnell College.

Participating in their usual capable manner were Bill Goetz, Jim Eissinger, Dean Engbrecht, Dallas Johnson, Dave Novak, Jim Peters, Al Putz and Bill Schroeder.

Strictly speaking, Band could hardly be called a club. But it still has a tendency to be rather active.

Last Tuesday the organization heard the Navy Band in Waterloo. Comments were — "technically terrific! But lacking the old fight spirit of the Wartburg Band."

Here it is! On Nov. 1 at 5! The band is sponsoring a Pancake Supper in the College Cafeteria. (By the way, that's a Sunday night, too.)
